

Volume contents

Volume 10 (1998)

'Too little too late'? An assessment of recent proposals for the private security industry in the United Kingdom B. George, M. Button (UK).....	1
Security ethics training: from ethical neutrality to judgement R. Panzarella, W. Cook (USA).....	9
Opportunities in an emerging market M.K. Nalla (USA).....	15
The use of a pre-employment screening system as part of a comprehensive asset protection program: Examining the incremental effects on inventory shrinkage G.L. Borofsky, H.J. Klein (USA).....	23
Structuring the employment interview to select medical facility security officers J.P. Leeds (USA).....	29
Book reviews	37
Protection in the press	43
Calendar	51
Instructions to authors	53

Special Issue: Crime Prevention in Australia, Guest Editor Tim Prenzler

Note from Editor-in-chief	v
Guest Editorial	57-58
Public awareness and auto-theft prevention: getting it right for the wrong reason R. Wortley, R. Kane, F. Gant (Australia).....	59-64
Technology and taxis: The challenge of uncoupling risk from reward F.S. Haines (Australia).....	65-78
Vehicle security using smartcards H.W.E. Jones, A.C. Watson, T.J. O'Neill (Australia).....	79-87
Access control determination of smart cards using a quantification of security level V. Cordonnier, A. Watson (France, Australia).....	89-95
Accountability and the private sector: putting accountability of the private security under the spotlight R. Sarre (Australia).....	97-102
Nightclub managers and the regulation of crowd controllers T. Prenzler, H. Hayes (Australia).....	103-110
Patron cultures, policing and security: trends from two Australian sport sites I. Warren (Australia).....	111-119
Formalizing co-operation in crime prevention: police and security sectors working together M. Golsby (Australia).....	121-129

Book review	131
Protection in the press	133–139
Calendar	141–142
Notice to readers	143
Declining crime and our national research agenda: a New Yorker's view J. Travis (USA)	145–150
The security–strategy interface: using qualitative process models to relate the security function to business dynamics J.H. Powell, J.P. Bradford (UK)	151–160
The need for cooperative efforts between private security and public law enforcement in the prevention, investigation, and prosecution of fraud-related criminal activity C.A. Bradford, C.E. Simonsen (USA)	161–168
Erratum to The Law Enforcement Assessment and Development Report (LEADR) IPAT Staff (USA)	169–181
Psychometric review of the Law Enforcement Assessment and Development Report (LEADR) J.T. Hazer, S.T. Bublitz (USA)	183–185
Book review	187–189
Protection in the press	191–203
Calendar	205
Author index	207
Subject index	209–210
Volume contents	211–212

